National Ski Patrol

Region Director's Report

David Dahl Region Director

Think Spring Skiing and Banquet.

The winter has been less than snowy, not just in our Region but throughout the USA. We all need to be thankful for the snow guns and hardworking snow makers -- without them many areas would not be open.

By now everyone should have completed a ski and toboggan refresher. The ski and toboggan refreshers are mandatory for all patrollers of all ages, just like the OEC refresher. If you elect not to do a ski and toboggan refresher, you are NOT allowed to handle toboggans on the hill and your patrol classification will be changed with next year's registration.

The North Central Region Senior Evaluation will be held at Blackjack Ski Area February 11th and 12th. Good Luck to all the candidates. We need the help of many patrollers to make this a successful event. This is an opportunity for you to lend a hand. No matter what level patroller you are, we can find a job for you. After assisting at the senior events, numerous patrollers have gone on to become seniors, instructors, evaluators, patrol reps, and/or Region and Division personnel. To volunteer, please call or email me and we will get you involved.

Attention All Patrollers - Every patroller needs to check the National web site to make sure their email address is correct. The website link is www.nsp.org. If your email is not listed or is incorrect, you will not receive information from National, Division or the Region.

It's Awards Time again -- Most Region awards need to be submitted to Marcia Locker by February 19. Whether your patrol is large or small, every patrol has individuals who deserve to be recognized for their work. You still have a little time, so send in your award applications now.

The North Central Region Spring Meeting and Award Banquet will be at the Waters in Minocqua April 20th. – 22nd. This is like low-cost mini-vacation for you and your family. The waterpark, food and camaraderie of fellow patrollers and families is outstanding. Yes, your spouse and kids can relax by the pool or fireplace or shop when you are attending any of the many ski patrol classes that will be offered. You will have an opportunity to get your CPR completed for next season along with many other NSPS classes to be offered. See the registration info inside the newsletter.

I also plan to see many friends, old and new, at upcoming Division and Region events. Please check the calendar inside. See you on the slopes!

Real Life

There was a time, when I first started patrolling, I would refer to "Patrol Life" and what I called "Real Life." The phraseology changed sometime ago and now you are likely to hear me say "the part of life that pays for my skiing" rather than a reference to real life.

The timing of this change coincides with the "maturing" of our first born into his teen years. It was at this time I determined life in patroldom was less surreal than typical time with a teenage son who was discovering girls, growing faster than corn grows on a hot and humid July afternoon and who has the notion he can communicate with adults only via a series of grunting sounds. It drives my wife crazy.

On the other hand I, at least in my mind, do not get worked up about such things. There plenty of things to get worked about in life, but I endeavor to not sweat the small stuff.

There is no doubt we deal with some awfully "big stuff" from time to time while patrolling. Perhaps I have just been fortunate to patrol with wonderful people or perhaps it is a testament to the training we receive. I must confess there are few, if any conflicts in my patrol life, even during the most tense of situations.

Even in the side of life that "pays the bills so I may continue to ski", I find very few issues to sweat over. At least if I am able to stay away from the retail part of the world.

Such was not the case early one evening when I volunteered to pick up the auto refill from our local Big Box, Full Service, Retail and Pharmacy store. The exact name and location will go unstated to protect the guilty.

I volunteered to stop on my way home from work one Friday evening, which just so happened to also include a quick stop by a quaint local establishment quite good at turning grain and other natural ingredients into a wonderful full bodied elixir. I was also instructed to pick up pizza ordered to be ready in about 15 minutes, not to be late and to be certain to use the health savings account card at the pharmacy.

The significance of me stopping at the pharmacy is nothing ever goes well when I stop there. Today proves to be no different.

I ask for the prescription. When the customer service person brings me the package I note there is only one bottle of medication. There is always three because insurance covers more fully when there are three. So I question the contents of the package.

"Excuse me, there are usually three bottles of this medication per fill."

"Well, we cannot confirm that today. Our system is being upgraded."

"Can I have three? Our insurance covers the cost more fully if three are filled at once. It is the preferred service."

"We cannot do that today because we cannot call up the prescription order, we are having a system upgrade."

"Then how did you know to fill the order?"

"The order came out before the system upgrade started."

"Didn't it tell you to fill three at that time?"

"I cannot confirm because we are undergoing a system upgrade."

"Ok, I will take this bottle and come back after the upgrade for more."

I sign the electronic pad allowing the pharmacy to bill our insurance and then swipe the health care savings credit card to complete the transaction.

"I am sorry, our system is declining your card."

"What? Why?" I know there is no problem with the account and wait for the customer service reply.

"We cannot tell. The system is being upgraded and our access to the information is not available. Try another card."

Knowing the pizza is probably getting cold waiting for me and I will be blamed for sitting at the local establishment too long, I scan my regular credit card in a manner evidently portraying my disgust because she hands me three coupons for the inconvenience. One is for a 70-count pack of allergy medication I use; it is for $6 off.

"Thank you. I'll take a 70-count package of this as well," I tell her.

"We do not have the 70-count pack of that medication."

"Is that due to the system upgrade or do you never carry this medication in 70-count packs?"

"No, we never carry 70 count packs."

"May I use this coupon on a 45 count package, even if it is at a pro-rated savings?"

"No it is only allowed on 70 count packs."

So much for no conflict in "Real Life." Pizza was cold by the time I made it home. Local Establishment banned.

Section One Report by Jim Meunier

Jim Meunier
Section One Chief

Ski season got off to a slow start this year in Big Snow country! We had very mild weather, with limited snowfall and marginal snowmaking conditions in December. With some cold days and nights for snowmaking, areas were able to open in time for the holidays, but not at 100%. In January, we had a few nice dumps to help provide the snow needed for areas to open remaining runs and provide for some excellent ski conditions by mid-late January.

Big Powderhorn was able to open its new lodge by Christmas Eve, and it turned out to be beautiful. Both Blackjack and Big Powderhorn provided night skiing over the holidays, and plan to continue with night skiing on the weekends the remainder of the season. Both of these areas followed the New Years Eve skiing with torch light parades, and a very nice fireworks display at Big Powderhorn. It appears that both of these areas, now in their third year under new ownership/management are doing well.

Mt. Ashwabay has a new patrol representative this year. Steve Pierce takes over the PR duties from Jeff Skoraczewski. Jeff was always a pleasure to work with, and has done a fine job as PR. Thanks Jeff for all your years of service as PR. Steve brings many years of patrolling experience to the position, and will do a fine job! Steve headed up an OEC class this past summer, with the help of several others on the patrol to help bring several additional patrollers to the Ashwabay roster.

Big Powderhorn hosted the Division Women's Clinic the end of January, and Blackjack will host the senior evaluation weekend February 11-12th. Earlier in January, Indianhead hosted the Division Nordic Clinic Telemark workshop, and Melanie Fullman, (Indianhead) organized patrol coverage for the third year of the SISU Nordic races in Ironwood. Indianhead is also hosting a series of USSA race events.

Section 1 is hosting the awards banquet for the Region on April 20, at the Waters of Minocqua. We will be needing lots of help from patrols/patrollers from Section 1. Hosting this event can be a fun and rewarding experience, and I encourage our patrollers to become involved by contacting me at 906 932-4116, or ejmeunier@gmail.com. We need help with registration, hospitality room, door prizes and fund raising, etc. Help is desperately needed and very much appreciated to help host this event for over 125 of our fellow patrollers from NC Region.

Section Two Report by Erick Jensen

Erick Jensen
Section Two Chief

The ski season got off to a slow start for many of us, weather-wise. Hopefully, we can make that up and have a great year on the white stuff. By this time, most of us will have on-snow refreshers completed as well as a clinic or two, some of us have more in.

These clinics are usually free, or a minimal cost, and offer much in return. I have had patrollers ask me why I go to many of these clinics. I tell them that I always get something out of these clinics and workshops that help improve my skiing and/or patrolling skills. Along with that are the new and renewed friendships generated at these events. Even the chairlift rides with non-patrollers who comment on the abundance of red jackets on the hill. It bothers me when I hear someone say that they went to XX clinic a few years ago and did not get anything out of it. Really?

Why not? Are you sure? I can't always say that I learned this specific item at this specific clinic, but I do not recall ever leaving a patrol event feeling that it was not worth my time being there, including leaving one with three broken ribs. Take advantage of the opportunity these events offer, you won't be disappointed. On the other side of the coin, I can tell you as an instructor, both in the ski patrol and professionally, I get a lot out of teaching, it helps keep up or improve my skills, and give a sense of satisfaction to see someone else improve in part because of my efforts.

My point is, get out there, take advantage of what is available to you, enjoy it and you may even get some new or improved skills out of it. I am living proof that you can teach an old dog new tricks.

I look forward to seeing as many as possible on the hills yet this year. And in classrooms.

Section Three Report by Martin Olson

Martin Olson
Section Three Chief

Greetings to all patrollers of Section #3, hope your year is off to a good start. Welcome aboard all new patrollers. Those that have come thru the Navarino Hills OEC class to joined the Pine Mountain patrol. One transfer to Hidden Valley.

The year has been a little on the light side for natural snow but don't let that dampen your spirits. Hopefully by this writing Gladstone will have made snow and be open for the season.

Keep refreshing your ski skills. Hopefully you have your hill refresher completed. Maybe you even attended the FREE regional clinic held at Brule. These clinics are a great place to polish up and get some valuable experience.

For all of the OEC instructors, get on the 'myNSPkit' website. Register as an instructor and get familiar with all of the great resources that are out there for you to utilize in your next class or refresher. Power Points, chapter questions, chapter scenarios, and more. This is an excellent tool if you are mentoring a Senior candidate as well.

Don't be content with the level of skier or OEC technician you are at. The OEC book has changed/improved and so should you. Get your skills up to the level of the OEC book as the care you are to provide to your patient should be at the level that the OEC book is teaching. The fall refreshers can only touch a portion of the book each year. I would suggest purchasing the new book, using it, going into the 'myNSPkit', do the chapter quizzes, get involved in an OEC class whether helping or shadowing. Review the book during dead times at the ski hill.

Patrols, nominate that deserving patroller for the outstanding patroller, student, instructor, patrol, and the merit stars. Do more than just the Bravo Award to recognize your team and these individuals. Maybe they might not make the Regional Outstanding but they will know that you appreciate their contributions and dedication to your patrol. Thank these individuals. You the patroller can also fill out these nominations, it does not have to come from the Patrol Representative or the patrols award committee. Go to the NSP website to get the latest forms. Fill the forms out completely as they are graded on a point system for each category on the form.

Again, I will encourage each of you to get to the Regional Banquet this April. There are always several education classes available. The banquet has good food and the highlight is the recognition of those receiving awards and being honored for their contributions to the sport of skiing and the NSP. Those of you from small ski areas have a good chance of being honored as well, but it needs to start with a nomination! Get-r-done!

Today's tip: Document all facts and observations on your incident reports. In the person's own words, should be in the first person tense. I did, not HE did. The reactions, mental status and activities of the injured guest after you completed your care are worth noting. Also the mental status of children or spouse of an injured adult can be a factor in a law suit. How you complete this form is very critical. Check all spaces on the form to indicate that you did not skip over any areas of the form. You are a representative for your ski area.

Nordic Notes By Betty Adams, Region Nordic Administrator

Betty Adams
Region Nordic Administrator

Weather has not been cooperating with skiing. Minocqua Winter Park has managed to maintain fair trail conditions with large crowds. This is what sixteen patrollers from Minnesota, Illinois, Michigan, and Wisconsin experienced when they gathered for the Central Division Nordic Clinic on January 7. For a change we did not have to worry about being cold. We separated into two groups one for evaluation and the other to practice skills. One patroller passed senior ski ability. We enjoyed skiing the trails and stopping for a break at the new tea house. On Sunday morning we skied with Dan Clausen as he helped us improve our striding techniques. In the afternoon we worked on skating techniques. After each practice session we put our skills to use skiing the trails. On Monday five of us traveled to Indianhead to ski with Dan practicing alpine and telemark techniques.

Save the date! The next Central Division Nordic Clinic is scheduled for January 12, 13, and 14, 2013.

Senior Ski and Toboggan By Les Robinson, Region Senior S&T Administrator

By now you've read how we need snow which I agree! However having a bad snow year may give you the opportunity to do training, and have some fun doing it. That is what we do in the senior program, so how about taking yourself to the next level of learning to better prepare ourselves to help others. S&T better prepares you for handling the toboggan and helps you learn a higher level of skiing. The Brule senior clinic will be over by the time you read this and hopefully the senior candidates will be out there picking up tips, learning and definitely having fun before the evaluation. This means you can have a head start on next year by going to an SES, TES, or come and help by being a patient or toboggan rider the weekend of the senior evaluation.

The evaluation is the weekend of February 11-12 at Blackjack Mtn. If anyone is thinking about taking senior next year this is a good opportunity to see what it is about I'm sure that Chris and Nancy Dobrinski could use your help on Saturday for the SEM, and you could see what the S&T is all about on Sunday. If you are interested send me an email that you'd like to help we'll see where we can use you or Chris or Nancy could definitely use you on Saturday.
